POWERS-MILLER STORE IS PURCHASED TODAY BY J. J. CARROLL FOR $54,600

John J. Carroll bought the Powers-Miller store at auction for $54,600.

The sale of the Powers-Miller stock of goods took place Wednesday afternoon under the appraisement made by E. Cary Norris, the receiver, who was appointed by Federal Judge Sater. There was a large number of buyers present from all parts of the country. The total appraisement was in the neighborhood of $70,000 and the stock was offered both in parcels and as a whole.

Just previous to the sale Eli Hull, owner of the building, said that he wanted it understood that he would not allow a bankrupt sale to be conducted in the building, and that the stock would have to be removed by April 23.

The goods were offered for sale by

BAD WEATHER INTERFERES WITH OPENING OF GREAT NATIONAL GAME TODAY

"And that inverted bowl we call the sky. Whereunder, crawling, cooped, we live and die! Lift not your hand to it, for it rolls on impossibly as you and I."

When Omar penned these lines in Persia years ago, he probably never heard of the United States or baseball, nevertheless his lines are uncannily appropriate today, as a few millions of fans will testify. With all the pennant hope ready to take from the port and set in the earth, reports from everywhere indicate that the transplanted will need diving suits, or, if the police are blind, no suits at all.

New York and Boston report smiling skies and a tang to the air. Washington and Philadelphia are cold and raw. Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Detroit, Indianapolis, Louisville, Columbus all either raining, going to or just stopped, leaving a sea of mud. President Tom Lynch forgot the weather long enough to become optimistic about the National League season. He said:

"It seems likely that a brilliant and prosperous season is impending. At least six clubs in the National will be keen contestants for the pennant and the coming season will likely produce some new records."

Big Byron Baneroff Johnson of the American League says:

"The high water mark in baseball will probably be eclipsed in the season that began today. Only one club now looks as if it would not be a factor in the pennant race. It looks as if the percentage column would stay close clear to the finish."

But as before noticed, the weather—but why be pessimistic.

Forty signs were knocked down to J. J. Carroll for $70.

For the horses, wagons, etc., E. M. Smith bid $2,000.

The store was then sold as a whole to John J. Carroll of Newark for $54,600, the bids starting at $30,000.

Mr. Carroll says that he will probably open the store for business in a week or two and it seems probable he will occupy the room permanently.

Mt. Vernon, April 12.—The attorneys for the defendant want their witnesses in Newark as well as elsewhere to remember that they need not report to the court in Mt. Vernon until next Monday morning, while the state's witnesses will report on Thursday morning.

It is the opinion of those engaged in the trial that the case will go to the jury not later than Thursday morning, April 20.

Attorneys for both sides expect to have the evidence all in by Tuesday night next.

court Wednesday morning, to be examined touching their qualifications to serve as jurors in the trial of Lewis J. Bolton, was placed in the hands of Sheriff Parker at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and by prompt work he had served all but seven, two of these being dead and five not being found.

Forty-one answers to their names as called and were sworn by Clerk Belmont.

B. and O. train No. 7 was 45 minutes late in arriving at Mt. Vernon, but no time was lost in getting down to business and at 9:30 the defendant was brought into court by Deputy Sheriff Woolson, and the trial proceeded. The Mt. Vernon jail adjoins the court house and is only a minute's walk from the prisoner's cell to the court room.

The ten prospective jurors were in their places and the first talesman called was

WILLIAM CALDWELL

A retired farmer, who lives in Mt. Vernon, examined by Miller; no scruples against capital punishment; had formed no opinion; passed by state. Asked a few questions by Owen and passed by defense and accepted.

Frank E. Cotton, farmer, infirm director, examined by Miller; no scruples and no opinion; passed by state and questioned by Waight, said he had no prejudice against a saloonkeeper; passed by defense and accepted.

This completed the panel of twelve men and Mr. Smythe after a few general questions stated that the state had no peremptory challenges at the time and was satisfied with the jury as selected.

An earnest conference between attorneys for the defense then ensued. Judge Waight stated to the men in the jury box that if they were finally selected as jurors, there would be no question as to their having been a crime committed in Newark the night of last July 8th, and that the defendant had been engaged in the saloon business. He then said that if any juror felt that from the fact that the defendant had been a saloonkeeper he could not give him the same fair trial he could a preacher or any other man charged with the same crime, he should make it known.

Juror W. R. Blair answered that he was opposed to the use and sale of intoxicating liquors and had heard Rev. J. Henry Miller, the Newark temperance lecturer, preach on subject of the Newark lynching, and had also talked with this man in which Bolton's name had been mentioned, so that he did not believe he could render a fair verdict.

Judge Wickham asked who this man Miller was, and Judge Waight informed him that he was "an inflammatory preacher who had been going up and down the country, inciting sober minded men to become fanatical on this subject of alleged temperance," and interposed a challenge for cause, which was promptly sustained by the court and Mr. Blair was excused.

It was remarked that this was almost without precedent in Ohio jurisprudence, that a man's talk on a subject could be so immoderate and inflammatory, that testimony to him would be a reason for the sustaining by a court of a challenge for cause.

George Hyatt, a farmer, took Mr. Blair's place and was examined by Miller. The state passed and after Judge Waight had made about the same statement as before, the defense exercised the first peremptory challenge in the case, excusing L. A. Stream.

J. L. McKinley, formerly infirm superintendent, a farmer, was passed by both state and defense after which the defense peremptorily excused J. C. Litzenger.

James W. Ogg, retired farmer, examined by Smythe; passed by both and accepted. Thomas Bailey being excused by the third peremptory challenge by the defense.

George Shafer, farmer, examined by Mr. Smythe; opposed to capital punishment and was excused.

William Bricker, farmer, examined by Mr. Smythe, and passed. He answered Judge Waight that he could give a saloonkeeper as fair a trial as anybody else, but admitted some prejudice against a man engaged in the business. The defense challenged for cause, but it was overruled by Judge Wickham and Mr. Bricker took his seat in the box.

The state again passed the panel and the defense promptly challenged Mr. Bricker peremptorily and he was excused.

Louis Barnhart, a farmer, was examined by Smythe; opposed to capital punishment and was excused.

W. E. Blackford, farmer, had scruples against capital punishment, when examined by Miller.

James A. Clark, farmer, examined by the same attorney; excused for the same reason.

GREEN BILL HAS PASSED THE SENATE

Fight Made on Amendment
Designed to Eliminate Temperance
Agitation

DELEGATES BY PETITION

Candidates for Constitutional Convention
May Embolden Views
on the Petition of Liquor Traffic.

Columbus, April 12.—After fighting itself clear of the amendment offered by Senator John E. Todd of Franklin county, which would have eliminated the nonpartisan feature of electing the delegates, the Green bill, which provides for the election of delegates to the Constitutional Convention next winter, passed the Senate yesterday with only one vote registered against it, that of Senator Andrews of Lawrence county.

As it was passed by the Senate the bill provides for the nomination by petition of the delegates and their election on nonpartisan ballots. Amendments which had been framed after a conference attended by all those in the Senate who were interested in the measure were presented by Senator Green, and, besides removing the election of Constitutional Convention delegates entirely from politics by saying that they shall be nominated by petition only, the amendment takes cognizance of the fact that the bill is a measure to be submitted to the people.

Upon the petition which any candidate is circulating he may say whether he favors the submission of the liquor clause to be embodied in the new constitution to a direct vote of the people, or opposes submitting the matter to a vote.

The question which it is proposed to submit to the people of the state is "Shall the new constitution provide for the licensing or traffic in intoxicating liquors?" or "Shall the constitution prohibit the licensing of the traffic in intoxicating liquors?"

No candidate is compelled to say on his petitions whether or not he favors the submission of these questions to the people, but if he has said so in his petition his name shall be so marked upon the ballot in the election which follows, and the names of those who have declared themselves opposed to the submission of the question will have their names so marked.

The particular wording of the submission statement, it is believed, will arouse the opposition of the temperance forces. It will be observed that they make a choice only between license and no license.

Monday it was reported that the matters referring to the liquor questions would be submitted separately and that the legislative statements would be so drafted as to carry this understanding. This would permit the submission of state wide prohibition as an alternative proposition with the license query and the voters could choose between them.

The objection to the proposition of today is that if the license section of the new constitution fails of adoption there will be no law whatever to regulate the liquor traffic unless it is cared for in the main body of the instrument. The temperance element that voices itself through the Anti-Saloon League will be opposed to the license clause. It follows, therefore, that if an expression cannot be had upon prohibition the Green bill will be opposed in the House of Representatives, and an effort made to amend it so as to include this privilege.

Should this succeed there will be an issue squarely put up between the two Houses with a fair prospect of no bill whatever being passed. It is said that the liberals in the Senate agreed to the nonpartisan features in order to get the bill through with the license clause as written.

One of the complications is that the Anti-Saloon League has had control of a sufficient number of members of the Legislature to block any settlement of the temperance question that would put a stop to agitation. It is known that certain Anti-Saloon League leaders are opposed to the submission to the people of an honest state wide prohibition proposition.

The details of the Green nonpartisan amendment are that in order to secure nomination a candidate must have at least two per cent as many names on his petitions as there were votes cast in his county at the last general election, and in no case can there be less than 200 names. The provision of the primary law holds good to the extent that the signer of a petition binds himself to vote for the candidate.

Senator John Stockwell of Cleveland, secured the adoption of an important amendment which removes the statutory prohibitions from public officers in becoming delegates.

Without this amendment it would have been impossible for any public officer, such as mayor, judge, prosecutor, &c., to become a delegate to the convention, but the Stockwell amendment allows them to serve in both capacities.

Senator Frank Dore offered a few technical amendments in the wording and form of the law, all of which passed with a rush and without opposition.

The big fight was precipitated when Senator Todd offered his amendment removing the nonpartisan feature. He did this immediately after the bill had been read for the third time and before Senator Green could gain recognition from the chair.

Senator Todd made his plea to have the nonpartisan feature eliminated on the ground that it was a flagrant violation of the existing constitution. He cited the action of the General Assembly in connection with the constitutional convention in 1851, and prayed for a return to those "good old days," when the organic law was a thing respected by legislatures and people alike.

He said that Governor Harmon had not investigated the matter thoroughly. (Continued on Page 4, Col. 3.)

FARMERS WILL HAVE FREE LIST

Democrats So Decide
After Reciprocity Bill
is Passed

ACTION OF CAUCUS

Was Practically Unanimous—Woolen and Cotton Schedules
to be Considered.

Washington, April 12.—Reciprocity with Canada and a farmer's free list, it was decided at the Democratic caucus held here, will be the legislation taken up in the order named by the present house of representatives. The woolen and cotton schedules, according to present indications, will follow.

In the caucus there was no opposition to Canadian reciprocity and no change or amendment to the bill as presented by Chairman Underwood of the house ways and means committee was offered by any of those present.

On the free list will be included those things which the farmer needs most, namely, agricultural implements, dressed meats and meat products, flour, rough lumber, boots, shoes and saddles, wire fencing, baling wire, cotton bagging, cotton ties, bagging ties, burlap and sail.

On many of these products the tariff is practically prohibitive and there are few importations of them on that account. It is impossible for this reason to understand what the difference will amount to by putting them on the free list.

In the debate which followed Chairman Underwood's presentation of the general plan a spirited opposition developed on the part of several members to demand that the Canadian reciprocity bill and the free list bill be combined. Representative Rucker of Colorado and Representative Sherley of Kentucky led in these efforts to override the majority, but the ways and means program was generally supported.

It is probable that the Canadian bill will be introduced Thursday. The introduction of this bill and the farmers' free bill as caucus measures will not stand in the way of immediate introduction of the three important measures—popular election of senators, publicity before election of campaign contributions and statehood for Arizona and New Mexico. These are not to be treated as caucus measures, but will come up as party bills and will be taken up for action as soon as they can be reported from their respective committees. Another caucus is to be held to debate the revision of the wool and cotton schedules, to be taken up in the house following the passage of the reciprocity and free list bills.

The caucus voted a straight indorsement of the Underwood reciprocity bill, 128 ayes, 29 noes, and 6 voting present.

The caucus added a provision to Underwood reciprocity bill calling on the president to continue negotiations with Canada with a view to establishing further reciprocal trade relations. Mr. Fitzgerald of New York, fought this provision, but he was voted down.

The last two represent the pronounced progressive element in the senate. Senator Martin, the chairman of the Democratic caucus which framed the committee, had announced his intention of giving the new and progressive senators fair representation. The steering committee's first function will be to take up the personnel of committees.

Almond Milk Soup. One-half of a pound of rice, one tablespoonful of sugar, five pints of milk, one-half of a teaspoonful of salt and one-half of a pound of almonds. Wash the rice, put it in a farina boiler with one quart of milk. Let it cook slowly until every grain is tender and swelled to double the original size. While the rice is cooking, shell and blanch the almonds, chop them very, very fine, then pound them in a mortar, adding a few drops at a time, about one-half of a gill of milk. If you do not add the milk they will become oily. If the quantity given does not seem sufficient, add more. Have as smooth a paste as possible after they are pounded, then put them in another farina boiler, with the remaining quantity of milk. Let them simmer for thirty minutes. When the rice is done, turn it out carefully into the soup tureen, then pour over it the almonds and milk, season with salt only and serve.

Savory Beef. Savory beef must be prepared several days in advance. Buy a compact shaped piece from rump or round weighing fully eight pounds. Mix together an ounce of saltpetre, one ounce of granulated sugar, twelve ounces of salt, one quarter of an ounce each of ground allspice and black pepper, one-half of a teaspoonful each of finely sifted savory and marjoram and two pounded bay leaves. Rub all the sides of the meat very thoroughly with this mixture, then hang in a cold place. Each day take down and rub with a mixture of salt and sugar. Add to it a little more of the same and keep it in a cool place for a week and in ordinary cool weather will keep for a week or cooking.

Heart and Home Talks by Barbara Boyd Economy and Dress.

Glove Economy.

ONE of the cardinal principles of good dressing is to be well gloved. Yet, as every woman knows, to be well gloved means the expenditure of considerable money. It costs to have one's gloves of good quality and always immaculately fresh. If there is any way by which this cost can be kept down without interference with the desired result, most women would like to know it.

About the only way in which one can economize on gloves is in the care of them. Some kinds of gloves wear slightly better than others. But good gloves cost money, there is no getting away from this fact and gloves soon soil. So that the problem of effecting very much saving on gloves is an almost hopeless one to solve.

For everyday wear, cape outseam gloves are good investments. Cape is a sturdy skin, and the outseam sewing brings the wear against the stitching, instead of against the leather. For this reason, outseam gloves, if wear alone is considered, are better economy than gloves stitched in other ways. Some, however, do not like the overseam because it is clumsy looking.

For dressy wear, kid of course is the best.

In colors, tan is good and serviceable. Gray soon fades. It is a difficult color to get right in the dye. White is, in the end, really most economical because it can be cleaned and cleaned—that is, if a good quality is purchased. But white gloves should be immaculate, and as the inclination is to put off their cleaning until the very last extremity, they perhaps are not a wise choice on this account.

Wash gloves are good economy. They are not at all difficult to wash and with a very little trouble, one can always have immaculate gloves. Such improvements have been made in wash gloves in the last few years that, in texture and fit, they equal the finest kid gloves.

Gloves can, of course, be cleaned by professionals for a very small cost. But many preparations come out with which gloves can be cleaned at home for still less cost. The point for the home-cleaner to bear in mind is to clean them before they become badly soiled. If after each wearing, all soil is cleaned off, the cleaning will not be half the work and will be far more successful than if they are left until they are badly soiled all over. Besides by this method one always has fresh gloves to wear. And as has been said, immaculate, well-fitted gloves are one of the essentials of successful dressing.

Gasoline is perhaps the most familiar agent for cleaning gloves. Its most objectionable feature is the odor. This will more quickly disappear, if the gloves after cleaning, are hung where there is a gentle heat. If the house is heated with hot air, hanging them before a register is one of the simplest and most effective ways to evaporate the gasoline still remaining in them. There should be little need today to caution against placing them near fire or against using gasoline where there is a fire or a light. If no gentle heat is convenient, hang the gloves in the fresh air for days, and the odor will almost entirely disappear. It is difficult to get rid of it altogether.

THE HALL OF FAME.

WASHINGTON IRVING—
American historian, essayist and novelist.
Born New York, April
3, 1783; died
Sunnyside,
near Tarry-
town, N. Y.,
Nov. 28, 1859.
His father
was an Englishman. When quite young Irving entered a law office, but soon began to write literary squibs for the press under the pseudonym
"Jonathan Oldstyle." He traveled abroad several years for his health and in 1819, after his return, published his "History of New York," by Diedrich Knickerbocker, a whimsical narrative which at once made him famous.

THAT JAPAN WAR FAKE

In one of the New York papers there is a very interesting and highly improbable story that our Ambassador to Mexico got possession of a secret treaty between Mexico and Japan relating principally to a coaling station
at a Mexican port, photographed it, rushed to Washington and showed it to the President, and at once the movement of troops to Texas was ordered and President Diaz was informed that the United States would regard such a treaty as an unfriendly act. Before this story came out Washington dispatches reported that Representative Sulzer and his fellow-Democrats
on the committee on Foreign Affairs say that the information which they received from the President convinced them that Japan had nothing to do with the mobilization, which was brought about solely by conditions in Mexico. Since the story was published the President has denied it, and it is denied by Senators Burton and Bacon, Republican and Democrat, of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. It does not appear from the story that there was anything in the alleged secret treaty that we should have had any excuse for resenting.
Japan has a large mercantile marine.
Her steamers are crossing the Pacific
to our ports and those of Mexico.
That Japan should need a coaling station in Mexico is natural enough.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

These be times of fads and wrinkles, these be not and restless days, anything that's new attracts us from the old, time-honored ways. And the customs of our fathers, we, the children, have outgrown; and the wisdom of the sages seems to us a futile moan. We must introduce new fashions in the way of government; we must claw the constitution till it isn't worth a cent; and some day we'll view the errors we are making with a sigh for it isn't safe to monkey when the goose is hanging high. Here's a country fat and sassy, where the feller gets reward, where all men are free and equal and there's neither serf nor lord; it has grown to might and glory, heath the system of our dads, but these latter day reformers, with an eye upon the sadder, with "the people" as their slogan, say, the ancient forms shall die and it's never safe to monkey when the goose is hanging high. Oh, the people would be happy if they were but left alone; if the wild-eyed cranks would never touch them how to wail and groan. They would do their work and prosper, putting money in the banks, if they only weren't flim-flammed by experimental cranks who would tinker with the law books as shambles, do with gowns, making hobbie constitutions, harem laws and handmedowns. If reformers were abolished we might have a cloudless sky, but they'll always raise Old Harry when the goose is hanging high.

and its use by Japanese war vessels is no cause for this country to become exercised or frightened. This country has obtained numerous coaling stations in foreign lands and no nation has thought that such action was cause of offense. The Japanese war stories are ridiculous fakes.

Dr. Watkins, Senator from this district and citizen of Licking county,
has finally been heard from on a roll call of the Senate. On the question of electing delegates to the Constitutional convention on a non-partisan ballot, Senator Watkins followed the other hide bound Republicans and voted for the amendment against it offered by Senator Todd of Franklin, under whose leadership nothing goes except edicts of the regular Republican machine type.

Sale of Cloverdale Farm.

Col. O. B. Ellis of Sycamore, who ductive poultry and truck farm, "Cloverdale," to Meric Vance, of Sycamore.

The consideration was $15,500.
The Bucyrus Forum, speaking of the deal says: "Col. Ellis has been extensively engaged in the poultry business
and has a large flock of prize winners.
He has not fully decided on his plans for the future but expects to continue in the raising of poultry and will prob-

GREEN BILL

or he would not have declared it constitutional to elect delegates on any but partisan tickets, since that is the manner in which Representatives are elected to the General Assembly.

Interpreting the phrase "The same manner," he said that it meant "the same manner as laid down by law," citing the Ohio statutes, which prescribe the conditions of elections.

Senator Green answered him, and was supported by Senator Dittmer of Henry county, and Senator Dore of Seneca. All three of these upheld the constitutionality of the nonpartisan feature. Senator Green offered opinions on the constitutionality of the bill, which had been framed by Attorney-General Timothy S. Hogan, Governor
Harmon, J. K. Hamilton of Toledo; Baker of Cincinnati, and other eminent constitutional lawyers. All of these maintained, with Senators Dittmer and Dore, both of whom are lawyers, that the phrase "the same manner" meant the manner as set forth in a previous article of the constitution.

The article provides that Representatives shall be elected from certain districts, and that there shall be one for every certain number of people.

Senator Deaton of Champaign, Johnson of Hamilton, and others who saw in this amendment their last chance to cast a vote which would help to render the bill ineffective, made arguments in favor of it, and the vote showed them in their last stand against a bill which they would have to pass.

Those who voted for the Todd amendment were Bader, Kuhl and Johnson of Hamilton; Crawford of Carroll; Doster of Highland; Holden
of Fayette; Keller of Lucas; the Dea-
tons of Champaign and Lucas; Purin-
ton, Todd of Franklin, and Watkins,
of Licking, making 12 in all.

Later Senators Crawford of Carroll; Deaton of Champaign; Doster of Highland, and Todd of Franklin, "ducked"
the vote, in order not to be on record
on the passage of the bill.

After that the question recurred upon the Green amendment, and though they were only a few Senators who voted upon it, it was accepted and incorporated into the bill. Senator Andrews cast the only vote recorded against the bill on passage.

After the Green bill passed, Lieutenant Governor Hugh Nichols made the following statement concerning its effect as a general proposition.

"The passage of the Senate of the Green bill providing for both nonpartisan nomination and nonpartisan election of delegates to our constitutional convention affords substantial grounds for the belief that the crisis in the campaign for progressive legislation has successfully been passed.

"Public sentiment in the state will respond to the action of the Senate and my prediction is that the bill, as passed by the Senate, will result in the election of brave, broadminded and independent men to rewrite our organic law—men who will put patriotism above party, and the public well-fare above all other considerations.

"The campaign for the enactment into law of the other progressive measures will be vigorously pushed, and with the ice broken may we not all hope for better things than the outlook justified two weeks ago?"

As for the submission clause of today Senator Green and other friends of the bill say that there is no occasion for alarm on the part of the temperance element. The general assembly cannot bind the constitutional convention as to what it shall submit, or in what shape. If it chooses to submit the prohibition amendment it can do so.

The clause of today gives the people of each county an opportunity to know whether the candidates presenting themselves are for or against license. If it is true that the Anti-Saloon League intends to fight license

then it will obtain a sufficient line up on every candidate.

HOUSE PASSED TAX COMMISSION BILL.

Columbus, O., April 12.—Faced by the strong probability of defeat for the entire bill, as threatened by Representative Lawrence E. Langdon, the Republican floor leader, the Democrats of the house of representatives yesterday practically conceded a majority to the Hollinger bill, great ly modified, and the passage of the state tax commission. As a matter of state justice, however, it should be stated that there was no Democratic desire to make the bill a party issue, as it related entirely to taxation matters. After these concessions the vote was taken and the measure was unanimously passed and sent to the senate.

The senate committee on privileges
and elections will report the Keller
bill for the nonpartisan nomination
of judges without recommendation.
The Jones bill, strengthening the buckeye shop laws, passed the house today unanimously. It is designed to drive these places out of business by making prosecutions more easy.

The Jenkins bill, providing for the formation of companies to insure doctors against suit for malpractice,
was killed in the house today, only 24 members voting for it.

The senate today refused to take the Young telephone meter bill from the committee where it has been for two months. The vote stood 20 to 10.

The house today refused to concur
in the senate amendment to the Central Board bill, and the bill will be considered by a conference committee. This is a victory for Governor Harmon, who objected to the amendment made by the senate.

REBEL ARMY EXPECTED AT JUAREZ CITY

El Paso, April 12.—The rebel army under Madero, numbering 2000, and all well armed and mounted, is expected at the gates of Juarez tonight. Once more carloads of money and valuables are crossing the bridge to rejoin the rebel vaults here. A river of humanity has poured across the bridge all day and those who remain in Juarez are nervous.
The rebels control the railroad south
and can get plenty of transportation to Juarez from Casa Grande, where they were last reported today. It is believed that if Madero makes a very determined assault the city is sure to fall, as it is garrisoned by only 750 federals.

Hall's Drug Store Offers a Remedy
for Catarrh—The Remedy
Costs Nothing if It Fails.

When a medicine effects a successful treatment in a very large majority of cases, and when we offer that medicine on our own personal guarantee that it will cost the user
nothing if it does not completely relieve catarrh, it is only reasonable that people should believe us, or at least put our claim to a practical test when we take all the risk. There are facts which we want the people to substantiate. We want them to try Rexall Muc-Tone, a medicine prepared from a prescription of a physician with whom catarrh was a specialty, and who has a record of thirty years of enviable success to his credit.

We receive more good reports
about Rexall Muc-Tone than we do of all other catarrh remedies sold in our store, and if more people only knew what a thoroughly dependable remedy Rexall Muc-Tone is, it would be the only catarrh remedy we would have any demand for.

Rexall Muc-Tone is quickly absorbed and by its therapeutic effect tends to disintegrate and cleanse the entire mucous membranous tract, to destroy and remove the parasites which injure the membrane, disturb, to soothe the irritation and heal
the soreness, stop the mucous discharge, build up strong, healthy tissue and relieve the blood and system of diseased matter. Its influence is toward stimulating the mucous cells,
aiding digestion and improving nutrition until the whole body vibrates with healthy activity. In a comparatively short time it brings about a noticeable gain in weight, strength,
good color and feeling of buoyancy.

We urge you to try Rexall Muc-
Tone, beginning a treatment today.
At any time you are not satisfied, simply come and tell us, and we will quickly return your money without

LICKING COUNTY POMONA GRANGE

The Licking County Pomona Grange met with the Elma Grange April 8. Nine subordinate granges were represented at this meeting and quite a number of members were present. After the reports of the granges had been made and the business transacted, a fine program was rendered.

In the afternoon the fifth degree was conferred on a class of candidates. The lecture hour was opened by a song by the grange. Sister Merrill then read a paper on "The Grange and the Church," followed by a recitation by Sister McFadden. Next was instrumental music by Curantz. Brother Alsbaugh then read a paper on "Who is Who in the Grange." This was followed by a recitation by Brother Crag McFadden, from Elma Grange. Brother G. C. Smith spoke on current events.

The following resolution was then adopted: Whereas, The president of the United States has called an extra session of congress for purpose of passing the reciprocity bill between the United States and Canada, we, the Licking County Pomona Grange, unanimously oppose said bill in present form whereby farm products of the United States and Canada should be put on free list and a duty on manufactured articles, thus doing injustice to farming interests; therefore be it

Resolved, That a copy of the above be sent our representative and senators, urging them to use their influence and vote in defeating said pending bill.

The following may also be of interest to some who may read this article:

Whereas, The legislature at its last session provided for the revising of the constitution of this state; and

Whereas, Those whose interests are not in common with our interests are taking steps toward securing a representation in this convention, therefore, we, this committee on resolutions, urge that the granges of the county take up this question for discussion so that we may be able to vote intelligently, and for men to all such convention that our interests will be protected.

The next meeting of the Licking County Grange will be at Centennial

POLICE COURT

Edward West and Charles Allison, two well known young men of this city, have been arrested on a charge of burglarizing the tailor shop of E. J. Hartie, on East Main street. On the night of March 6 the place was entered and an overcoat, suit of clothes and a pair of trousers were carried off. Ever since that time Chief of Police C. H. Hindel and Capt. Swank have been working up the case, which has finally resulted in the arrest of the before named young men. Shortly after the burglary the clothes were found in a vault in the North End.

Capt. Swank has been active the past winter in keeping in touch with the various crooks that have visited this city and in every burglary case has succeeded, with the assistance of a number of patrolmen, in cleaning up every case and landing the law breakers behind the bars. Newark is more than fortunate in having a vigilant set of men and there have been few robberies here in comparison with other cities of its size throughout the state.

The hearing of Wm. Moore, who is charged with violating the Rose county local option law, will be had before Mayor Ankele Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Gilbert Wolcott was arrested on a charge of making an assault on Minnie Sheffield. The defendant had his hearing in police court Wednesday morning before Mayor Ankele and was bound over to the common pleas court in the sum of $50.

Two plain drunks were brought before the mayor Wednesday morning and were assessed the usual fines.

Harry White was arrested by the officers on the charge of assaulting his wife. In the mayor's court Wednesday morning he waived examination and was bound over to common pleas court in the sum of $50.

BOLTON TRIAL

William Blue, a farmer, was somewhat opposed to capital punishment, no opinion as to Bolton's guilt or innocence, but gave as a reason for not serving that his mind would be at home and he could give the case the attention it should have and was excused.

J. R. Drake, farmer, examined by Miller for state and Wright for the defense, was passed by both, after which the state exercised its first peremptory challenge and excused George Leppley.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

Juror W. H. Bower upon the convening of court Tuesday afternoon stated to the court that his hearing was poor and he had kidney trouble. Judge Wickham asked him several questions in a tone of voice calculated to test his hearing and was satisfied that he was incapacitated from this cause and he was excused.

Miller Mendenhall, Mt. Vernon, retired farmer, 74 years, examined by Miller; was opposed to capital punishment; excused.

John Stoffer, boarding house keeper, Mt. Vernon, was examined by Miller; opposed to capital punishment unless the evidence was very strong; state's challenge sustained.

L. A. Stream, real estate and insurance man, Mt. Vernon; no scruples, no opinion but was next door neighbor to Mr. Owen, of counsel for defense; passed by both state and defense.

Edward Dalley examined by Cromley; not opposed to capital punishment but had an opinion; excused.

Shon Dodgeon, farmer, examined by Cromley, had conscientious scruples against infliction of death penalty, but might give verdict if evidence was strong. He had presented a certificate from a physician that he was suffering from cystitis and was excused.

Morris Dean, farmer, was examined by Cromley; had no reason except that he was troubled with sciatica and he was excused by the court.

Charles Porterfield, Bladensburg, farmer, examined by Cromley; had scruples against capital punishment; excused.

David Wilson, farmer, examined by Cromley; opposed to capital punishment.

Alfred Mill, furniture dealer, Mt. Vernon, examined by Smythe; opposed to capital punishment; excused.

George W. Leppley, examined by Cromley; bad health, but no other interfering reason. No questions by defense; accepted.

J. D. Simpson examined by Cromley; no scruples but had expressed an opinion as to Bolton; excused.

Jackson Morton by Cromley; had scruples against capital punishment; excused.

Oscar Shaw, farmer; no scruples, no opinion, passed by state. By Wright—no prejudice against a saloon keeper; accepted.

J. E. Litzberg, farmer, near Centerville, examined by Smythe; no scruples and had formed no opinion; passed by state. By Wright—Don't believe I would be prejudiced because defendant may have been a saloon-keeper; accepted.

Charles Biggs, examined by Smythe; was opposed to capital punishment; excused.

Wm. Welsh insurance man, Mt. Vernon, examined by Miller; had no scruples nor opinions, but claimed exemption on account of being over 70 years of age, and was excused.

ADVOCATE REPRESENTATIVE INTERVIEWS PRISONERS

Through the courtesy of Sheriff Parker, the Advocate representative at the Bolton trial had an interview with Watha, McKinley and Timmons, senior Newark men serving a sentence at the penitentiary, but who are incarcerated in the Mt. Vernon jail, waiting to testify as witnesses in the Bolton trial.

Watha is much encouraged by the fact that he is expecting news of the reversal of the decision of the lower court by the circuit court. Watha is now employed in bolt shop 25, time has been transferred from the construction work to work in the kitchen. McKinley is now also employed in the kitchen.

HAIR DROPS OUT

Many People Have a Simple Way of Stopping It.

It was Dr. Sangerlund of Paris who first discovered that dandruff and falling hair were caused by microbes.

And now that Parisian Sage, the remedy that kills the dandruff germ is sold in every town in America, the clean people of this country have awakened to the fact that dandruff is unnecessary; that falling hair and itching scalp can be quickly stopped and that people who use Parisian Sage will never grow bald.

To every reader of the Advocate who wishes to eradicate disgusting dandruff, stop falling hair, and have an immaculately clean scalp, free from itching, we make this offer:

Evans' Drug Store will return your money, without red tape, if Parisian Sage does not banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks.

Parisian Sage is sold by Evans' Drug Store and druggists everywhere for 50 cents a large bottle. It is an ideal, daintily perfumed hair dressing, free from grease and stickiness, and will cause hair to grow lustrous and luxuriant. Mail orders filled, charges prepaid by Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

HOW I WAS CURED OF SCROFULA

"I was in a very bad condition with scrofulous swellings round my neck. It started with a bunch on the side of my neck and it kept growing until the whole side of my face was swollen.

"I had tried everything in the shape of medicines for five years. I had gone under an operation in one of the hospitals in Boston and had them cut out. I had thirty little tubular glands taken from back of my ear down my shoulder. After the cuts healed over they started to come again and worse than before.

"After suffering so much I thought I would try Pinkham's Blood Purifier and before I had taken two bottles there was a great change in the swellings. I continued its use and to-day I am a well woman Every word of this is true.

"I cannot speak too highly in praise of Pinkham's Blood Purifier."

—Mrs. W. H. HAYNES, 38 Adams Avenue, Everett, Mass.

The tendency to Scrofula seems to be hereditary and it is hard to overcome. It may lie dormant for years, and then break out anew from time to time.

The only known remedy for Scrofula is to keep the blood pure and rich by the use of a good blood purifier. It may require long treatment, but Mrs. Haynes found that Pinkham's Blood Purifier cured her of this dreadful disease, after all other means had failed.

Pinkham's Blood Purifier is equally as good for all diseases emanating from impure, impoverished blood, and is the best Spring medicine known. People will find the Blood Purifier just as reliable a remedy as the women of the world have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Unequalled—satisfying and dependable.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Unhappy Prince

WILL JONES
"In a Short Time He Will Be Happy"

"WELL, kiddies," said daddy one evening, "what sort of story shall it be this evening?"

Before daddy could say anything Jack said: "A story about a king."

So daddy began:

"Once upon a time many, many years ago there lived a king in a country across the ocean. He was a very kind and a wise man. Besides, he was very rich, but above all his other possessions he valued his little son who would be king when he was dead. The king spent his time playing with the prince as he could spare, and it was even whispered around the court that one day one of the king's courtiers, happening to open a door of the palace rather suddenly, came upon the king on his hands and knees on the floor with the little prince sitting on his back.

"You might think that, having a father who was so fond of him and being a prince and having everything that money could buy, the little prince would be very happy. But no, he was not happy. I don't know how a frown, and it puzzled the king to think that in spite of all he could do for the little prince he still remained unhappy. Nothing seemed to please him or make him happy.

"At first the king thought that there was something wrong with his boy's health, so he called in all the great doctors of the kingdom, who looked over their spectacles at the prince and looked wise and talked in whispers among themselves. But they could find nothing the matter with him. He ate his meals and slept just like an ordinary youngster who wasn't a prince, and the doctors had to report that they could not find out what the trouble was.

"Then the king sent messengers all around his kingdom to tell every one that he would give a large sum of money to any one who could make the little prince happy. Several persons came to try, but none of them succeeded. At last there came to the court a great magician, who said he believed he could take the frown from the little prince's face.

"The magician took the little boy into another room with him and asked him if he wanted anything. The boy prince said no, he had all that any one could ask.

"Ah, then, I have it!" said the magician. "Your son," he said to the king, "has too many toys and is too used to having things done for him. Let him try the plan of doing something each day to make some one else happy, and you shall see in a short time that he will become happy himself." And so it really turned out."

OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Faded and Gray Hair—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

From time immemorial, sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost everyone knows the value of such a combination for darkening the hair, for curing dandruff and falling hair, and for making the hair grow.

In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. The Wreth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this sort, called Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

MAN'S GREATEST ASSET

is physical strength and bodily health. The bread winner cannot afford to give out.

It is a vital necessity that he keep his nervous and muscular system in good condition to withstand the daily wear and tear of life.

Those who are run-down, weakened or nervous should remember that nothing excels Vinol, which is a combination of the medicinal elements of the cod's liver and tonic iron, to strengthen the digestive organs, create an appetite, make new blood and restore strength.

Prof. James Mitchell of Jasper, Ont., says his system was run-down to a critical point from overwork. A friend told him to take Vinol. He did so and is now enjoying perfect health, and he considers Vinol a wonderful tonic. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

We ask every run-down, overworked, weak person in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim. F. D. Hall, druggist, Newark, O.

REV. I. N. CARMAN'S FUNERAL TO OCCUR THURSDAY MORNING

The funeral of Rev. I. N. Carman of Rochester, N. Y., who was run down by an automobile in that city Sunday night, sustaining injuries from which he soon died, was held from the residence of his son, W. B. Carman, in that city, and the body will be brought to Granville.

The deceased, who formerly lived in Granville, was formerly pastor of the First Baptist church of Marietta, of which his son, Rev. Augustus S. Carman, is now the pastor. During recent years he had made his home with his son, W. B. Carman, in Rochester. He also held pastorates in Indianapolis, Ind., Champaign, Ill., and other places. He was a man of noble characteristics and strong intellect, one who impressed all who knew him by his character, quite as much as by his ministry. Rev. Carman was one of five generations of Baptist ministers, his grandfathers being a leader in pioneer churches of his sons and three of his grandsons.

Rev. Mr. Carman had been retired from active life for quite a number of years, but he was still as active as his health would permit in his life's work. That he should come to such an untimely death will be generally deplored by his old friends here and in Granville but there is consolation in learning that his last hours were free from intense suffering and that he passed to his reward as in a sleep.

The remains will arrive in Newark Thursday morning and will immediately be taken to Granville, arriving there at 9:30 o'clock, when services will be held in Maple Grove cemetery and the burial will be made beside his wife, who died in 1902.

NO CAPS AND GOWNS AT STEUBENVILLE

Steubenville, April 12.—A resolution presented by President J. D. Moss, governor of the board of education, last night designating caps and gowns as commencement apparel, failed to pass after all members had spoken favorably of it, due to a statement of Superintendent H. L. Brice that one girl graduate had planned already for three gowns for commencement functions.

ANNIVERSARY OF FALL OF SUMPTER

Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock marked the fifth anniversary of the fall of Ft. Sumter. This was the occasion of the firing of the first gun of the civil war. It was also the first and only bloodless battle of the war. This first shot announced the beginning of the greatest conflict in the war's history. Shot of rifles, Major Anderson and the little band of men and their gallant defense of the fort were seen from the clouds. Only when the fort was in flames and the war in danger of surrender did they surrender.

LOST WATCH FOUND

April 5th, gentleman's gold open face watch with fob, between Black Hand and Weiland Green House. Return to Advocate, Newark. 11d3t

This advertisement was given only one insertion in the Advocate, but it brought the desired result. Fred Imbody, who is employed by Councilman Phil Vogelmeier, read the notice in yesterday's paper, and as he had found the watch referred to, Mr. Imbody brought it promptly to this office. More people are reading and using the Advocate classified ads every day. If you haven't started to do so, begin today. The ads are interesting and more than that — they point the way to money saving.

Former Newarkites Are Figuring In a Sensational Suit

In the court of Fairfield county John Knott has commenced suit for divorce from his wife, Pearl Knott. The couple were married in Newark six years ago. Knott accuses his wife of infidelity. Mr. Knott filed a petition against Thomas Henry, who, he alleges, alienated the affections of his wife. The plaintiff asks judgment against Henry for the sum of $5000.

THE BIRD AND BEE MAN VISITS CITY

Colonel Isaac Washington Brown, known as the "Bird and Bee Man" of Indiana, is lecturing to the children of the city on birds and their uses. This is in keeping with the new interest in city improvement, landscape gardening and agriculture.

The Colonel is a civil war veteran, has lectured in twenty-six states, lectured for ten years at Winona Summer School, Ind., was employed by Miss Helen Gould for five years to lecture along the Gould system of railways, and bears the best of testimonials from the governor of his state, prominent agriculturalists, and leading school men.

The Colonel says the elms in the court house park are most beautiful in the country but that they need attention. He says they are attacked by wood borers and that these can be prevented only by multiplication of birds. He also says Newark is a city of orchards and that they will bear fruit only in case we multiply our birds. He is telling the children how to multiply orioles, wrens, blue birds, and purple martins.
